

ALEXANDRIA. VA THUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 27.

A RECOUNT of the people of Baltimore city falled to count twenty-one thousand of the population thereof. A recount of the people of Staunton, in this State, was made last week, the result showing an increase of corrected. nearly three thousand over that made by Mr. Perter's enumerators. Wherever a rec unt has been made, except in Louisiana, the inaccuracy of the regular census takers has been demonstrated. And yet, with all this as plain as daylight, the republicans in Congress will attempt to pass a partisan bill to reapportion representation in accordance with a census known of all men to be

SENATOR STANFORD has disregarded the order of the court of his State to appear and enswer charges of bribery at the recent elec tion, and has started for Washington. And ve: Mr. Sianford is a candidate for the Presidency, the chief executive office of the country, the man who fills which swears that he will have all the laws executed. But republican Senators act as though they think the South is the only part of the country in which laws should be obserred

FROM recent developments it is learned that all West Point cadets who fail to pass satisfactory examinations have to do to ob tain commissions in the army, is to enlist as common soldiers, as then, by means of the wealth and other sort of it fluence of their parents or friends, they are soon promoted from the ranks, over the heads of more worthy men. So it seems that in the army, as in all other branches of the country's sir vice, this has become a rich man's govern-

SENATOR HOAR speaks of the recent elections in the South as those "isthmian games of murder and fraud, of which the chief object of the new U. S. House of Representatives will be to award the prizes." He also says the principle of the McKinley bill is to take the burden of taxation off the poor. Mr. Hoar is becoming an old man now, and should have more regard for his own reputation than to talk this way. Indeed, be should be ashemed of himself for doing so.

IT is stated in the newspapers that Mr. Russell Harrison, the President's son, vainly tried to induce the man who recently 16furnished the Blue Room at the White House to give him $500 for an illustrated description of the room, as and by whom fur nished, to be published in his newspaper, Frank Leslie's Magazine. The Harrisons are evidently making all they can out of their temporary occupation of the White House

UNLESS THE State's creditors make another proposition for the settlement of the State debt, every well wisher of Virginia Legislature. Nothing else than a possible settlement of the debt would warrant the expense of an extra session, and there is nothing else that such a session could off of that could not be done just as well at the next regular session.

IN THE recent decision of the Virginia Court of Appeals in the case of the ownership of a church in No: thumberland county, the M. E. Church was not involved. The church before the war belonged to the Mathedist Protestant Church, and not having been sold to the M. E. Church South, was restored by the court to its rightful

FROM WASHINGTON.

[Special Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27, 1890. The fact that Senator Stanford assigns the absolute necessity for his presence in this city at the commencement of the coming a mandate of the court of California at deflance and for running away from that State in order to avoid an examination of the charges of bribery at the recent election there, is said here to be absurd, in view of the other fact, that he was in Europe during nearly half of the last session of Congress. and that the proceedings of Congress are ing his absence as his presence.

To-day is a rictly observed here as a general holiday. The Capitol, White House, all the family. family. stores on the principal streets are closed, the theatres, hotels, bar-rooms, drug stores and organ shops being about the only places In the window to one of the restaurants on Pennsylvania avenue a table, with a cooked turkey, mince pie and other usual green goods men at the mozzles of their pistols, dishes of a Thanksgiving dinner, upon it, is and that the police in turn took from the Alaset for two, one for ex-President Cleveland, bamans f r safe keeping. the other for Secretary Blaine. General Cadmus Wilcox, a gallant and dis-tinguished mejor-general in the Confederate Army, who was etricken with apoplexy while walking on the street here yesterday evening, had not improved. He is still unconscious and is completely paralyzed on one side. Slight hope is entertained of his recovery. It was at first thought that be had injured himself by his fall, but people who saw him immediately before he fell eay they observed that he was ill. Some of the democratic congressmen now here intimate that as soon as the regular proceedings of the House shall commence, a resolution will be introduced demanding an monia. investigation of the incorrect census returns of New York city, the adoption of which will be the only possible means of staving off the passage of the partisan republican reapportionment bill, and that otherwise the latter bill, under Mr. Reed's rulings, will go through the House before the close of the

It is understood here that not withstanding shows that the consus enumerators in that the fact that the consus returns have been only falled to count twenty one thousand published by Superintendent Porter, and a reapportionment bill, based upon them, been prepared, the returns have not yet been completed, and are still being revised and

Meeting of the Board of Trade.

A called meeting of the Alexandria Board of Trade was held in their rooms in Peff's Hall, on King street, last night. The attendance was not large, though the interest manifested was of more than the ordinary fervor.

The Presiden', Mr. F. A. Reed, upon calling the meeting to order, stated that he de-eired to present his resignation, believing that the election of a new President and at has proved far at in many instances. It is something in the nature of pleuro pneu- into the association, many of the members of full Italian gir's of this city, aged respectively. which had been dereifet of lite in attend- tively sewenteen and eighteen years. Sako ance upon the meetings of the board and the committees upon which they had been appointed. While this s ate of effairs existed other places in the State were attracting capital and enterprise and Alexandria was languishing. The utility of the Board of sented to marry him. Sake went to the Trade had been amply exemplified in the establishment of the shoe factory, and Mr. Reed felt convinced that should the board gather the data and sot forth the advantages of our city and give in detail the workings of all the industries in our midst, the pay rolls of the different corporations, &:, publish the same in pamphlet form incalcuable good would result to Alexandria.

Mr. Paff hoped the board would go on in ts good work, and corroborated Mr. Reed's statements that the shoe factory owed he origin to the association. He urged more activity on the part of the members and portrayed the benefits which would surely follow.

Mr. Jolian T. Burke, the Treasurer, sub mitted his report, which set forth an ample figureal account for the working of the board.

Mr. Reed then suggested the practicability of the heard inducing parties to subscribe to a fund for the purpose of helping minor enterprises now here and which might come here. The steady, healthy growth of the city was the most to be desired. Large enterprises were the desideratum of all places, but when an industry of colossal dimenions failed the effects were depressing on everything else; while disseters to the tire city. He cited an instance which came under his observation where a chair factory employing one hundred and fitty men would have been coated here had $5,000 been invested in the enterprise by our peop'e.

A decided and unanimous opposition to Mr. Reed abdicating the Presidency of the board was apparent, and he was finally prevailed on to hold the office until the expiration of his term-the second Monday in March.

Mr Noble Lindsey was then elected 1st Vice President; Mr. George Fisher 2nd do: Mr. Wm. Reardon secretary; Mr. Julian T.
